

4th Division Unit Arrives In Viet Nam

Balance of Force
Expected to Land
In Near Future

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, which won fame in two world wars, landed in South Viet Nam today and was immediately airlifted to the central highlands, one of this country's major battle-grounds.

The arrival raised U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam to about 290,000 men and highlighted a day in which ground fighting dwindled to sporadic and light actions.

In the air, however, a U.S. spokesman said heavy strikes continued against North Viet Nam — where Red gunners fired 15 Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles at raiding American warplanes Friday.

Successful Sweep
One of the most successful raids was a sweep at a 40-truck convoy heading south under cover of darkness. Strafing and bombing attacks set 25 of the trucks afire in strikes Friday night and early today.

The military spokesman said the only fighting reported today was in the highlands west of Pleiku and about five miles from the Cambodian frontier — an area where some 10,000 U.S. soldiers are hunting the Viet Cong. The light clash today came when a reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division hit what was apparently a covering force of North Vietnamese regulars.

Details of the action were scant, the spokesman said, but the U.S. forces were pressing on into the area.

The 4th (IV) Division, based at Ft. Lewis, Wash., is commanded by Maj. Gen. A. S. Collins Jr. It is best known for its D-Day landing on Utah Beach in France in World War II. It also claims to be the first allied unit to reach German soil in that war. In World War I, it fought in the Meuse-Argonne campaign, among others.

The rest of the division is expected to arrive in South Viet Nam in the near future. U.S. officials have predicted that 350,000 to 400,000 troops will be here by the end of the year.

In the air war, giant B52s from Guam flew in this morning for a high-altitude saturation strike on a suspected Viet Cong jungle hideout in Quang Tin Province south of Da Nang.

Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots flew 105 missions over North Viet Nam today, plastering supply and military targets from far above Hanoi down to the 17th Parallel.

New Jersey Girl Killed In Car Crash

WITTENBERG — A 17-year-old New Jersey girl was killed Friday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger went out of control on U.S. 45 a mile north of here and overturned several times.

Marguerite Shaw, Wildwood, N.J., was riding in the car driven by her brother, Christopher, 22, Wisconsin State Traffic Patrol authorities think the single-car accident might have been caused by a defective steering apparatus.

The family, including the Rev. and Mrs. Lewison Shaw, parents of the victim, had been vacationing at Rhineland. The older Shaws were driving in a second car.

Christopher Shaw suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to Wausau Memorial Hospital by the Schmidt Ambulance. Helke Funeral Home, Wausau, is in charge of arrangements.

Racial Violence Hits Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Racial violence wracked a tidy all-white neighborhood Friday for the second time this week and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was felled by a rock, said the eruption was fostered by the worst hate he has ever seen.

King promised the marchers would return to the area.

More than 6,000 frenzied white residents of the Southwest Side rioted during and after a march by 800 civil rights demonstrators.

The civil rights group is demanding open housing. The Chicago Lawn residents say they had built up the neighborhood and that Negroes would degrade it.

Youth Wounded
A 19-year-old white youth was wounded in the shoulder by a knife thrown towards King during the march. The youth was released after hospital treatment.

Police arrested 39 white persons, including 3 women. Hospitalized said 28 persons were brought in with injuries.

"It hurts, but it's not an injury," King shouted above the cursing, screaming, jeering mob in Marquette Park after he fell to one knee when a rock hit his head.

"I have to do this — to expose myself — to bring this hate into the open," King shouted to newsmen. "I have never seen such hate — not in Mississippi or Alabama — as I see here in Chicago."

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, got to his feet, ripped off his tie and began forming the demonstrators into a line for the march.

King, who spends two or three days a week in Chicago working on a campaign to eliminate slums, said after the march: "We shall have to keep coming back."

Advertise in Britain

'Save the Beatles,' Say
Two American Girls

London (AP) — Two American girls called on Britons today to support their "Save the Beatles campaign" in the United States.

Their appeal in an ad in the personal column of the Daily Telegraph, came as the "Ban the Beatles" campaign spread to Spain and South Africa and a new controversy stirred up in Britain.

The American girls are Susan Dobbs and Theresa Earles of Hopewell, Va. Their ad said they had founded the "Save the Beatles campaign" in the United States.

"We Love Them"
It went on: "Dozens of radio stations across the states are banning their records and having bonfires, because of a statement by John Lennon. We have a petition to get them back on the air. Please, England help us, we love them, too."

The 12-line ad cost the girls $33.60.

Lennon's quote in a five month-old interview which has offended some disc jockeys and others in the United States was:

"Christianity will go. It will vanish and shrink. I needn't argue about that: I'm right and I will be proved right. We're more popular than Jesus now. I don't know which will go first — rock 'n' roll or Christianity.

"Jesus was all right but His disciples were thick and ordinary. It's them twisting it that ruins it for me."

So far about 20 U.S. radio stations have banned Beatles records. The ban is spreading to other countries.

Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles, said in New York the British singers will fulfill their American engagements starting next week despite the "Ban the Beatles" move.

Woman Found Dead After Family Quarrel

Shirlé Ann Hanson, 34,
Rural Clintonville, Dies;
Husband Held by Police

CLINTONVILLE — A 34-year-old mother of eight was found dead early this morning at her rural Clintonville home after a family quarrel. Waupaca County sheriff authorities have said they will seek a warrant for the arrest of the woman's husband.

The victim was Shirley Ann Hanson, route 2.

Held in the city jail here this morning was her husband, Delbert Hanson, 39. Clintonville police detained him after answering a frantic telephone call from one of his children about 1:35 a.m. today.

Before police could respond to the call, Hanson, himself, had called the Clintonville rescue squad, which arrived with Dr. Harry Caskey and found the body of Mrs. Hanson inside the house.

An autopsy was scheduled for 11:30 a.m. today to determine the cause of death. According to Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork, an early estimate listed strangulation or blows as the cause.

Violent Argument

Hanson was questioned by Mork this morning before transfer to the county jail at Waupaca. Mork said he would obtain a warrant for Hanson's arrest but did not say what the charges would be until he could confer with Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson.

According to Mork, city police received the early-morning call from a Hanson child who stated that his parents were having a violent argument.

County traffic police Sgt. Lyle McCully was dispatched to the home, four miles northeast of here in the Town of Matson.

After discovery of the body by the rescue squad and doctor, Mrs. Hanson was pronounced dead by Dr. Joseph Weber, deputy county coroner.

Hanson is employed as an equipment operator by Martin Brothers, Clintonville. The couple's eight children range from four months to 14 years.

Await Supreme Court

La Follette to Appeal Acquittal of Hutnik

MADISON (AP) — The state's hope of nullifying the acquittal of Assemblyman Willis J. Hutnik was hanging today by a constitutional thread.

Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette, in a surprise announcement Friday, said he would challenge the U.S. Supreme Court's upholding of the constitutionality of the Wisconsin bribery statute under which Hutnik and Assembly Minority Leader Paul R. Alfonsi were indicted.

Alfonsi was convicted in Circuit Court, Dane County, last month. Hutnik was acquitted Thursday by Circuit Judge Arnold Murphy after a two-day trial in Hutnik's home town.

Murphy not only found the assemblyman innocent but found the bribery statute unconstitutional.

La Follette had been expected to announce that he would challenge Murphy's finding on the constitutionality of the statute.

Such a challenge is also expected from attorneys for Alfonsi, who are also readying an appeal of his conviction.

But the attorney general's announcement that he would also challenge the acquittal itself had not been expected.

Stewart G. Honeck, Hutnik's lawyer, said after the verdict Thursday that Murphy's finding of innocent could not be affected by any appeal on a separate issue of the law.

La Follette Disagrees
But La Follette disagreed. Article I of the State Constitution declares that "no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment."

The "double jeopardy" guarantee is also written into the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution.

But the attorney general said the state would maintain in an appeal to the State Supreme Court that a defendant waives jeopardy when in the latter part of a trial he challenges the validity of the statute under which he is charged.

Such a motion was raised at the Hutnik trial and upheld by Murphy in a ruling that included the verdict of innocent.

La Follette said the state's appeal of the acquittal would be based on the contention that Murphy erred on certain questions of law during the two-day trial. La Follette would not comment more specifically.

In 1943, the Supreme Court ruled that jeopardy does not necessarily end when a verdict is handed down.

Pickets March Near Church

Luci, Pat Wed at Noon in Ritual at National Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the Romanesque arches of a vast shrine, a full-throated choir fell silent today, an age-old question was put by a priest, and the words "I do" came from the lips of Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick John Nugent.

Thus the daughter of the 36th President became the bride of a college boy reared in a modest, orange bungalow in Waukegan, Ill.

She was the latest in a roster of eight girls married while their fathers served as chief executive of the nation.

The scene could best be described as monumental. The National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, world's seventh largest church, gleamed with light filtered Hours before the ceremony a group of about a dozen persons began picketing the shrine, protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. One carried a miniature coffin. By police arrangements they were kept about 100 yards from the church, on the far side of Michigan Avenue.

William Higgs, a picket leader, said it was in poor taste to hold such a wedding on the 21st anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima.

through many-colored panes and falling on great mosaics. Cascades of greenery and white roses marked the pews for the select congregation of 700, composed of friends great and humble of the principals. The three clergymen of the consecrated Mass, the new-lords and indeed the tall President himself seemed tiny compared to the high altar, its four polished columns of pink stone rising to its marble canopy.

Hiroshima Still Suffers

Japanese City
Marks Anniversary
Of Atomic Blast

HIROSHIMA, Japan (A) — People are still dying from the after effects of an atomic bomb dropped on this city 21 years ago, the mayor said during solemn anniversary ceremonies today.

Sirens, church bells and temple gongs echoed through the reconstructed city at 8:15 a.m. as residents bowed their heads in one minute of silent prayer.

At that moment on Aug. 6, 1945 an American B29 Superfortress dropped a 20-kiloton atomic bomb — equal to 20,000 tons of TNT — from the summer sky.

It exploded 2,460 feet over the center of the city, killing between 80,000 and 200,000 persons. The Japanese believe the higher total. The Americans say the lower figure is more accurate.

Pigeons Released
As the sirens waited today hundreds of pigeons were released from the city's Peace Park and some 30,000 citizens watched as Mayor Shinzo Hashimoto placed a new list of 550 additional bomb victims in the stone receptacle under the saddle-shaped concrete cenotaph.

University Branch Campus Openings To be Simultaneous

Officials Announce Decision for Kenosha County, Green Bay Sites

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — New northeastern and southeastern branch campuses of the University of Wisconsin will be opened simultaneously, ranking state officials have decided.

Information sources said that priority of construction and opening of the new schools in Kenosha County and Green Bay has been resolved.

To avoid political complications, informants said, the university administration and consulting planners in the State Department of Administration have agreed upon the procedure.

Target date is the fall of 1969, with officials hoping first construction contracts can be let late in 1967.

Officials Not Certain
University officials have said previously that they are not certain they can meet that desired schedule.

A team of state planners recently learned that Illinois state officials spent four years in planning a similar branch campus. Final authorization of the Kenosha and Green Bay UW branches came recently, and a planning organization has not yet been put together.

One report says that a planning officer specifically assigned to the Kenosha and Green Bay projects will be named during the next few months.

Originally educational officers and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education indicated that the Green Bay campus would be first, with opening planned for 1969, and that the Kenosha institution would receive its first students two years later.

Then there was speculation about a schedule preference for Kenosha, based on the appointment several months ago of a chancellor for the Kenosha campus and a delay in the appointment of a top administrative officer for the northeastern institution.

But an official involved in the planning said here Friday night that the selection of a chancellor has no relation to the development of plans or the construction schedule.

University officials had indicated earlier that the northeastern chancellorship appointment has been delayed because some candidates thought to be available were interested in the job and that the appointment may be delayed until late fall.

Vacation Trips Excuse For Writing Postcards

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Millions of people take vacation trips this time of year in order to have something to write about on postcards.

Postcards are the billboards of the common man on which he chronicles in deathly prose the story of his passing:

"Drove 550 miles today. Hope to make 600 tomorrow."

"Wish you were — instead of me. This motel charges $18 per day, and even more on days when they put water in the swimming pool."

"Having wonderful time. Hope you are changing the gravel in the cat's box regularly."

Writing postcards is undoubtedly our most widespread form of pop art. It is as American as the hot dog, the pizza pie and chop suey.

Ingenuity falters
But for a people inventive enough to come up with the skyscraper, the airplane and bubble gum, it is amazing how our lack of ingenuity falters when we have to put down our thoughts on a postal card. Words fail us, or the words we do summon up strike us as hollow even as we write them.

No scholar has won his Ph.D. by a profound study on "social consciousness in U.S. postcard literature," because it is rarely conscious and it is never literature. No Nobel Prize has ever been awarded to a postcard author, anyone that it has been given to any aviator for sky writing.

As a matter of fact, it is difficult offhand to name any immortal message inscribed on a postcard.

Wrote on Envelope
Legend says that Abraham Lincoln wrote the Gettysburg Address on the back of an old envelope. Had his pocket contained a postcard instead, he probably would have wound up with:

"Dear Mary, it's a nice battlefield here. Running low on shirts. What's new in the White House? Love, Abe."

Men are peculiarly inept at composing postcards. The average man will waste an afternoon, bite his tongue raw, and develop writer's cramp composing three postcards, such as:

"Raining when we passed through Yellowstone. However, did see two bears and a forest ranger."

"Gas here costs two cents a gallon less than in our town. Everything okay in the office? Regards to the gang."

"Just saw Niagara Falls. Great place for a guy who likes outdoor showers."

Women are just the other way. They take a peculiar delight in postcards. They can even write them while descending on muleback into the grand canyon.

A postcard is a definite challenge to a woman. She wants to be sure she gets her 4-cent stamp's worth. Where a man finds nothing to say, she can't find enough space to chronicle her scenery-thrilled soul.

The fellow who engraves the Lord's Prayer in miniature on a penny is a piker compared to her. She tries to compress an encyclopedia on every postcard. She fills up the regular space, puts her second thoughts in the corners, and is still writing postscripts around the edges while her husband is bawling at her:

"For Pete's sake, Mable, knock it off and get in the car. We'll never make it to Las Vegas by dusk if you spend the whole day writing postcards."

The big mistake most people make is in sending postcards to friends and acquaintances. It would be much wiser if they mailed them to themselves.

Then, when they got home, they'd have a lot of fun looking at the pictures of all the scenic places they visited — the beautiful places they hadn't had time to enjoy because they were too darned busy writing postcards.

Air Force Plans To Sell Part of Truax Airfield

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has notified the House and Senate armed services committees of a plan to dispose of a major portion of Truax Airfield near Madison, Wis., Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said today.

Under the law, the Defense Department must give Congress a 30-day notice of its plan to dispose of specific military property.

If Congress does not object, the General Services Administration is given a similar period to determine if there is any other federal requirement for the property.

If no federal agency wants the property, it is made available for disposal by GSA according to a list of priorities beginning with local public agencies.

Kastenmeier said under this timetable the Air Force expects to clear the first parcels of land for release to the city in late September or October.

Wallace Not Worried by Death Threat

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — "There've been things like this before, the governor's not worried," is one aide's reaction to still unverified reports that six youths are on their way to Alabama bent on killing Gov. George C. Wallace.

The governor's press secretary, Jack House, said Friday night that Wallace had changed no plans for public appearances this weekend as a result of the reported threat.

Wallace remained silent on the rumor.

However, two more state troopers were assigned to the governor's usual three-man security staff, and highway patrol cars were alerted to be on the lookout for cars with six occupants.

An FBI spokesman said the bureau had been tipped regarding the threat by a Washington television station, which it later declined to identify.

Highway Toll Reaches 579

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The death of a Millston construction worker boosted Wisconsin's 1966 highway death toll to 579 today, compared with 560 on this date a year ago.

Gary L. Zahrtle, 22, of Millston, died early today in a Sparta hospital of injuries suffered July 30 in a one-car collision.

Monroe County authorities said the car Zahrtle was driving left the road near Cataract and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Mrs. Carol Dalton, 21, of Ripon was killed Friday in a two-car collision on a cutoff road about one mile east of Montello in Marquette County. Five persons were injured in the accident.

Herbert M. Dailey, 46, of Antigo was killed Friday in the collision of his car and a Langlade County Highway Department truck. The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 45 about two miles south of Antigo.

Clock Outlasts Wives

A clock installed on London's Tower Bridge by Henry VIII's order, 425 years ago, is still telling time.

Race Violence Hits Chicago

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 — ing back until we are safe from harassment. Until Negroes can move into the neighborhood the tenets of freedom will continue to decay."

The demonstration Friday began in the racially tense area when four groups went to separate real estate offices to picket. When the demonstrators milled into Marquette Park, a scenic recreation area, to form for the march, they were met with jeers, catcalls, curses, rocks and bottles from the white residents, mostly youths.

"White Power"

More than 2,000 whites milled around King after he was struck, screaming "white power" and throwing rocks. They also stopped cars which brought the marchers into the area.

Residents perched in trees and dropped eggs, fire crackers and rocks on the marchers.

The marchers — white and Negro, men and women, priests and nuns — marched slowly and doggedly forward.

Some residents stood on their front porches taking motion pictures of the scene.

When the demonstrators knelt to pray, fire crackers were thrown into the kneeling group, and the crowd screamed obscenities and waved banners.

More than 1,200 helmeted policemen, swinging clubs, charged into the howling mobs of whites to disperse them.

Seven hours after the first demonstrators showed up at real estate offices, the glass and rock-strewn neighborhood of Chicago Lawn returned to a semblance of normalcy.

State Laws Loaned, Rarely Returned

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Members of the Arizona State Legislature are loaned 20 volumes of state laws when they are elected.

The books almost never were returned — until recently, when Rep. Harry Bandouweris, who will not seek re-election, took his books back to the secretary of state's office.

"I'm flabbergasted," said Rose Mofford, assistant secretary.

Luci, Pat Wed at Noon in Ritual at National Shrine

ceeded each other rapidly from the time the President, with Luci on his arm, began the 352-foot journey down the aisle. The design of her white gown had until today been a state secret. He wore a cutaway, a garb he had previously disdained to don even for his inauguration.

Gives His Daughter

At the altar rail the President gave his 19-year-old daughter to the keeping of the tall blond bridegroom of 23, who had approached from the right.

Then the President joined the First Lady, who wore yellow, in a front pew on the left side of the aisle, as one looks at the altar. The bridegroom's mother, in aquamarine, and other members of the Nugent family, were in the front pew right.

The bridal couple proceeded to a prie dieu, or satin-covered kneeling bench, within the sanctuary. To their sides and a little to the rear, stood and knelt maid of honor Lynda Bird Johnson and the best man's stand-in, Gerard P. Nugent Sr., father of the bridegroom and of Marine Lt. Gerard P. Nugent Jr., absent on Viet Nam duty. Lynda Bird's pink illusion veil swept to the floor behind her.

Repair to Altar

Five times the bridal couple left their kneeling bench and repaired to the altar — to say the wedding vows, to present gifts in the form of bread and wine at the offertory, to receive Holy Communion, and twice to receive nuptial blessings from white-robed Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington.

The Rev. John A. Kuzinkas of Chicago, friend of the bridegroom, administered the vows and called "upon all of you here present to be witnesses of this holy union which I have now blessed."

"Revere Her, Husband"

The Gospel according to St. Matthew, wherein the Savior declared husband and wife are "no longer two but one flesh," was proclaimed by the Rev. William J. Kaifer, faculty adviser to Luci when she was a student nurse at Georgetown University.

From a high lectern, Rep. Hale Boggs, a Knight of Columbus from New Orleans, read from St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, admonishing that "each one of you should love his wife just as he loves himself; and the wife should revere her husband."

When the bridal couple and the President and the wedding guests left the church, the 56-bell carillon atop the 329-foot campanile pealed out anew, as it had for an hour before the ceremony.

Tile Enamel Floor; Paint Will Ruin It

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have dark asphalt tile on my utility room floor. I would like a lighter shade. Can I put on paint or enamel?

A: Chalk up a no vote from this corner. Any oil-base paint will eventually react badly with the solvents in the asphalt tile, which lets out enamel as well. Latex paints would have a hard time, too, especially since there would be constant splashing. Further, these paints are not usually recommended for use underfoot. Suggestion: If the present tile is in good all-over condition, cover it with another layer of tile of the shade you like.

Q: Would it be advisable to use an epoxy enamel on the walls as a waterproof measure before tiling the walls around a bathtub to make a shower?

A: If the tiling is done properly, this undercoating of epoxy would be a waste of time and money. But if shoddy workmanship led to leaks in the seams, you'd be mighty happy about that protective coat of epoxy. In fact, the protection of epoxy is so good that I know of cases where only the epoxy enamel was used on the shower wall, and there have been no problems.

Q: My concrete slab floor sets below ground level. Whenever it rains fairly hard, water floods the floor. Any prevention for this?

A: If water seeps up through the floor, you need a waterproof layer, then another layer of concrete. If seepage is through cracks or seams along the walls, liquid waterproofing should be applied to the exterior surface to at least three feet above ground level.

Kewaunee Doctor To Serve for 60 Days in Viet Nam

SAIGON, (AP) — Nine more American doctors including Reynold Nessman, of Kewaunee, Wis., arrived in Saigon Friday under the "Volunteer Physicians for Viet Nam" program.

A total of 134 American doctors have come here to serve 60 days on a voluntary basis. The program is under auspices of the American Medical Association, which recruits doctors under a contract with the U. S. Agency for International Development (AID) and pays them $10 a day while in Viet Nam. The agency furnishes transportation, housing and other support.

Wisconsin Draft Call Set at 829

MADISON (AP) — The country's highest monthly draft call since the Korean War has boosted Wisconsin's October quota to 829, the State Selective Service director said Friday.

Col. Bentley Courtenay received the state's call today after the U. S. Defense Department announced Thursday 46,200 men would be needed for October.

Wisconsin's September quota also was revised upward, in accordance with the Pentagon demand. Instead of the 625 men previously ordered, the state now must provide 745, Courtenay said.

The defense Department said the increased manpower was required because of a drop in volunteer enlistments.

In July, the call for Wisconsin was 606 and this month it is 777, according to Courtenay.

Birth Rate Declines; Catholic Baptisms Up

Although the birth rate continues to decline, baptisms in the Roman Catholic Diocese of Green Bay increased to a high in 1965.

Sixteen counties comprise the diocese, including Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca and Calumet.

Statistics obtained by the Green Bay Register, the diocesan newspaper, in its annual survey show that 63.7 per cent of the births in the diocesan area were to Roman Catholic parents.

Area Births Decline

At the same time, births in the area declined from 15,202 in 1964 to 14,332 in 1965. A total of 9,133 of these were baptized Roman Catholic.

Roman Catholic trends in births, marriages and percentage of population in the four Fox Valley Counties were mixed.

Calumet registered 336 Catholic births, up to 60.1 per cent of the county, while Winnebago also increased with a 1,171 total, up to 51.5 per cent. Outagamie

Services Will Dedicate New Faith Church

An unusual worship service is planned for the 8 and 10:30 a.m. services, Sunday, at Faith Lutheran Church. A farewell service, conducted by the Rev. Henry Simon, pastor, will begin in the old church and the congregation will then proceed to the new $450,000 church, where, after the Rite of Unlocking, the service will continue.

Guest pastor for the occasion will be the Rev. Dr. Roland Wiederanders, St. Louis, first vice president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. He will preach the same sermon at both services.

Four representative members of the parish will serve as bearers of the sacred vessels. They will carry the pulpit Bible, the communion wafer box and baptismal napkin, the agenda book, which contains the sacred rites of the church, and the sealed pledge box, which contains the annual pledges of the members of the congregation.

Formal dedication of the new church and the remodeled facilities of the old is scheduled for Sept. 11. At that time an open house also is planned, with organ dedication and recital set for Sept. 18.

The Bribery Law Needs Clarification

The decision rendered by Judge Murphy dismissing bribery charges against Assemblyman Willis Hutnik puts this unusual legal situation into much clearer perspective.

Judge Murphy won a reputation over a period of years as circuit judge in Northeastern Wisconsin for getting to the heart of a case and disposing of it forthwith. In absolving Hutnik he issued a directed verdict taking it out of the hands of the jury because he said, the jury would have been confounded in reaching a verdict.

Judge Murphy ruled that sections of the state bribery law under which Hutnik was charged were unconstitutional because they are vague and indefinite. "The statute fails to give notice to a person that if he did a certain thing, he'd be guilty of the crime of bribery . . . It is unconstitutional because it constitutes a failure of due process of law." He also pointed out that the statute does not mention intent, and he added, "It is inconceivable to me, and I'm sure it is the law, that it is utterly impossible for a person to commit a felony . . . without intending to do an unlawful act."

Assembly Minority Leader Paul Alfonsi was convicted on a similar charge under the same statute, and while we are not in a position to compare the salient points of evidence in each case it is reasonably clear that the circumstances in both cases were similar. This would almost assure a Supreme Court review of Alfonsi's conviction, and probably of Judge Murphy's decision, and such a review may assist in clarifying the legal situation.

But in the end action by the legislature to clarify the statute involved is mandatory. Governor Knowles in his comments on the Alfonsi conviction declared that it posed serious consequences for the legislative process. The vagueness of the statute and the manner in which it was applied in Alfonsi's case would put almost any legislator in jeopardy for performing perfectly legitimate acts.

Trend in Dairying

A trend all of us in Wisconsin have observed in recent years has been officially confirmed by the Department of Agriculture. The number of farms producing milk will continue to decline until only specialized dairy operations will produce the nation's milk, the department predicts. "The sideline dairy enterprise on general farms rapidly is disappearing, as is the small dairy farm," a department report said. "The number of farms selling milk or cream has dropped an estimated 75 per cent in the last two decades and cow numbers are down 38 per cent. But while small farms are disappearing the number of large farms is rising."

Technological advances in milk production are having the overall effect of drastically increasing milk output per man hour of labor, per cow and per unit of feed. But only large specialized farms can take full advantage of these technological advances.

Many Wisconsin dairymen have been heading in this direction for many years. That's why Wisconsin is still one of the nation's leading dairy states. But only a continued upgrading of production methods and stock breeding will keep the state in that happy position.

New Type Smoking Ordinance

Prompted by the urging of a number of nonsmoking residents, the city attorney of Tremonton, Utah, has prepared an ordinance making it unlawful "for any person to exhale tobacco smoke in the presence of nonsmokers within the city limits." It's the first attempt in the United States to provide legal protection for those who object to having smoke blown in their faces.

It also demonstrates the ridiculous extent to which some people in this country are willing to go in invading the private rights of other citizens. Today the remedy for anything anyone doesn't like is to go to government and get a law passed.

How much simpler it would be for a nonsmoker in Tremonton or any other city in the country to ask his smoking companion to exhale in another direction.

Eskimos Awake Politically

One of the clauses in the 1867 Russian-American treaty which then Secretary of State Seward engineered to buy Alaska was that "natives shall not be disturbed in the possession of the land they occupy." Since this meant a great deal of apparently barren tundra and ice floes above the Arctic Circle, the American custom of forgetting treaties when dealing with the natives was not so flagrantly obvious. But now when our consciences are somewhat more nagging than during our Indian Wars, the Eskimos have begun to awaken to demand what they feel is theirs.

There are about 50,000 people living in Alaska generally characterized as "natives." They include 27,000 Eskimos, 17,000 Indians and 6,000 Aleuts, with a mixture of Russian and Eskimo blood dating back in great part to Russia's former ownership. Altogether the natives make up about 20 per cent of Alaska's population and they are just beginning to realize they may have political strength.

Thirteen Eskimo villages in northwest Alaska banded together to lay claim to 30 million acres of land including an area of copper deposits now being explored. In the far north the Arctic Slope Native Association of Barrow has organized 90 per cent of the natives in the villages in the region into a political action group. So far the association has endorsed for re-election Governor Egan and Senator Bartlett but has withheld approval of Representative Ralph Rivers because he does not agree with Eskimo land claims. Neither does Senator Gruening but he is not running this year.

The Eskimos are desperately caught between two cultures and while Americans get very concerned about the serious problems that face such people elsewhere, little has been accomplished for — or by — the Eskimo. Medical facilities are somewhat better than in previous years but still appallingly inadequate. There are no sewage systems in most Eskimo villages, the average person per bed is about 3, and the most common diseases are those usually associated with poverty, filth and crowded conditions. Tuberculosis is still a major threat, malnutrition, ear infections, conjunctivitis, pneumonia and meningitis take high tolls. The Eskimo birth rate is double the national average but 12 out of every 100 Eskimo babies do not reach their first year.

Few of the Eskimos have yet shown the ability to get out of their slowly deteriorating areas. As their numbers increase despite the diseases, the game is not enough. They have few skills from schooling so seldom can compete for jobs. But as some have become well educated and prosperous, they are understanding the importance of political power for getting things done.

Moreover, they have some arguments that ought to shake up usually complacent Americans. "This is the last chance for Americans to be fair in dealing with original aboriginal peoples' land claims," says one Eskimo leader. "We don't want to hold up progress, we just want a voice in it," says another. And another told the Public Land Law Review Commission, that "the past performance of the white man speaks only too plainly of his inability or indifference in preventing stream pollution and depletion of the God-given natural sources of food."

So far the Eskimos have shown little awareness either of the dangers of pollution or the disappearance of game animals and fish. But their claims to land have a lot of substance.

Pomeroy Dickers for Motor

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 3, 1866.

It is no secret in Town, that we have entertained a proposition from Mr. Pomeroy to dispose of our printing materials and business, and we have set a price upon them.

This, we hear, is not satisfactory to Mr. Pomeroy, and that he now proposes to establish another paper here. If Mr. P., or anyone else, has any designs upon our business, which we have labored so hard to establish, and hopes to possess it without an adequate return, or expects to coerce or frighten us into throwing it all away, he will signally fail.

We consider it necessary to make the above statement, for our patrons and friends may understand our position, and do us justice—in a word, hear our side of the question and not through any ill-will to any one.

Once or twice before, something similar has been attempted, and made public, even to furnishing a newspaper item to the Crescent, to the serious detriment to our business, in creating distrust in the stability and permanency of our establishment—a la Free Press.

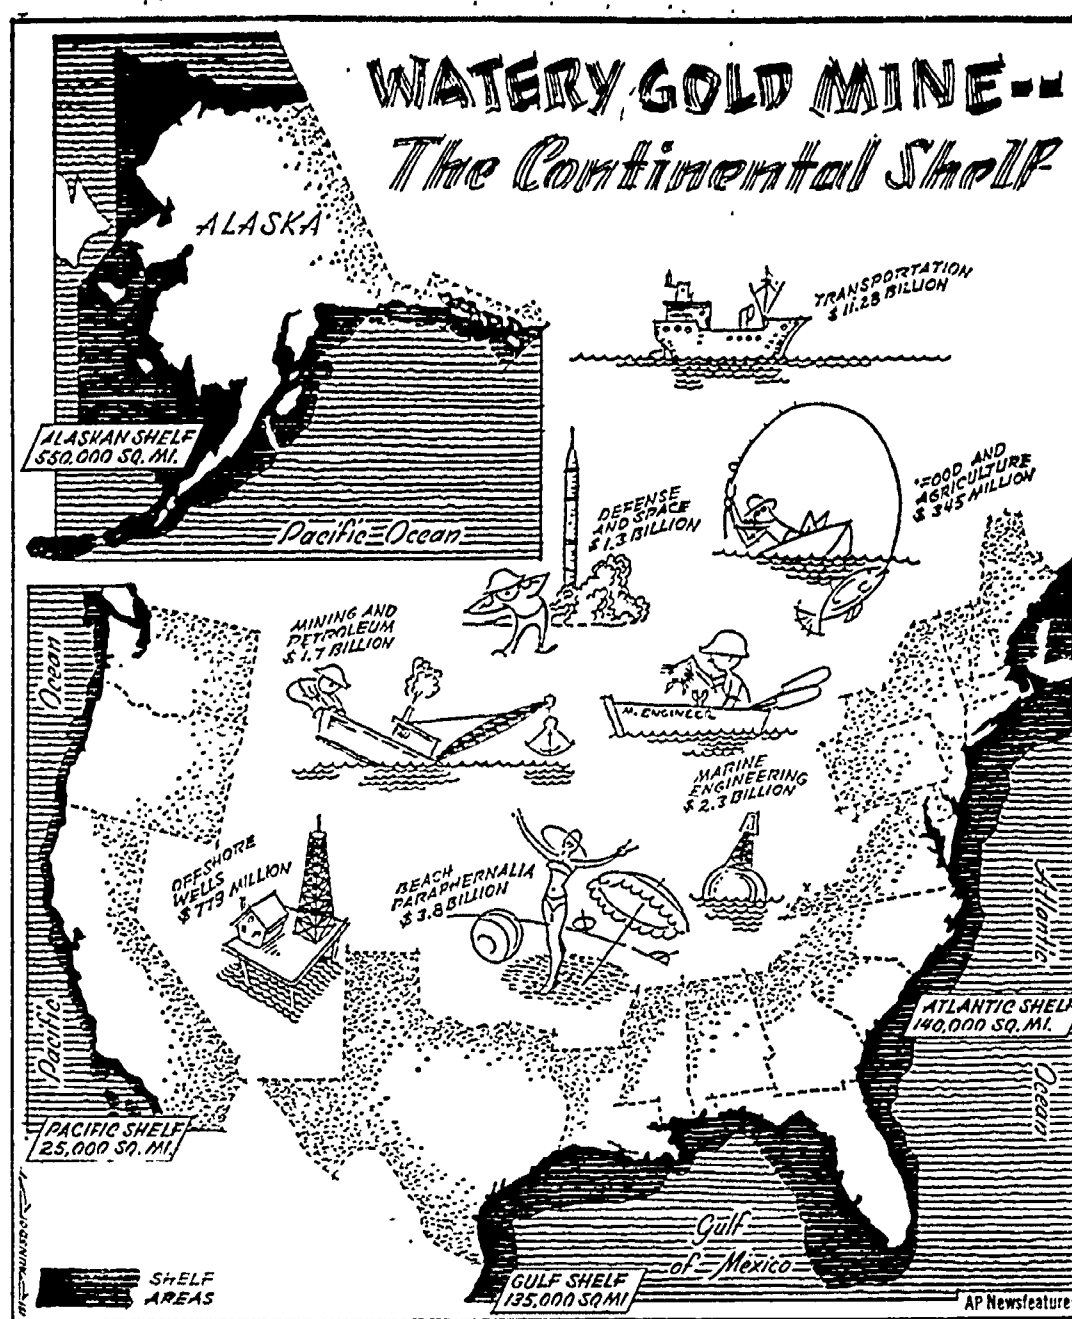

We believe that with an experience here of nearly seven years in the establishment, our friends and patrons do not need to entertain any fears that we will ever make such a record. Friend, and Republicans with whom we have labored for years and for whom we have printed a paper through hard times, and during the unprecedented high prices of paper—even though the paper may not have been all you could wish — give us your confidence and support and we assure you they shall not be misplaced nor unworthily bestowed.

Ever See Continental Shelf? It's Scene of Economic Activity

BY JOSEPH R. COYNE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most people wouldn't know a continental shelf if they swam over it, which they frequently do.

By definition, the continental shelf is all that coastal land extending out to a water depth of 600 feet, and by international agreement it belongs to the bordering country. For the United States, that means 23 per cent of its land size, even if the land is under water. It also means a multi-billion dollar asset.

A new study, made for the U.S. Coast & Geodetic Survey by the Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, estimates that economic activity in the American continental shelf in 1964 amounted to $21.4 billion. That was about 3.5 per cent of the total value of goods and services produced in the American economy that year.

HIGH GROWTH RATE

More important, the study predicts a significant increase in economic activity in the area of more than one million square miles. A 10 to 15 per cent annual growth rate over the next 10 years in research and development, recreation, mining and petroleum is not unreasonable, the study said. Smaller increases — 3 to 5 per cent yearly — were predicted in marine engineering, seaweeds, commercial fishing and transportation.

Estimates of economic activity ranged from the value of crude oil and gas from offshore wells — $779 million in 1964—to the price of beach balls, suntan lotions and swim suits bought by an estimated 33 million salt water bathers.

The continental shelf generally includes the area between the coastline and waters 600 feet deep. For this study, ocean beaches, estuaries, bays and harbors were also included. The largest chunk of the shelf, 550,000 square miles, is in the Alaska area, followed by the Atlantic coast with 140,000 square miles and the Gulf coast with 135,000 square miles. Comparatively deep water close to shore leaves only 25,000 square miles of continental shelf along the Pacific coast.

Transportation was by far the largest source of wealth on the continental shelf during 1964, estimated at $11.28 billion. This was followed by recreation — including the $5 spent annually by the typical ocean bather on paraphernalia — at $3.85 billion.

Here is how the study divided the other economic activities: Research and development, $232 million; marine engineering, $2.3 billion; mining and petroleum, $1.7 billion; health and welfare, $372 million; food and agriculture, $345 million; defense and space, $1.3 billion, and other industries, such as communications and electric power generation, $10 million.

In the petroleum section, the survey predicted operations in deeper waters, perhaps to depths of 1,000 feet, within five years. The report said one industry authority predicts that in 25 years the free world will obtain 25 per cent of its oil and gas from underneath the sea, with some drilling in water up to 2,000 feet deep.

The shelf in some cases could reach to this depth under international agreement where exploitation of natural resources is involved.

UNDER-WATER MINING

Turning to mining, the study noted that salt, bromine, magnesium, sulphur, sand, gravel and oyster shells (used to make cement and road material) are already extracted from the sea.

But the report said such metals as gold, platinum, tin, calcium carbonate, manganese and phosphorite also have economic potential. They are found in sediment on the ocean floor.

The study recommends federal action now to encourage offshore development. Decisions by private industry to develop areas of high risk — such as the continental shelf — can involve lead times of as much as 20 years.

The Environmental Science Services Administration, of which the Coast Geodetic Survey is a part, should initiate "appropriate efforts" to minimize private risk, the study said. Federal agencies should also consider cooperating with coastal states in programs that would result in added incentive for private investment, the study added.

Specifically the study called for more precise data on ocean currents and waste disposal, surveying of the sea bottom, topographic maps of the shelf, information on mineral composition and the properties of bottom sediment and areas beneath the floor.

Town Resident Believes Laws Are Discriminatory

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your editorial in the Sunday Post-Crescent July 13, prompts me to write this letter. "The formulas for shared distribution of state aids. . . They are as potent a factor as our obsolete annexation laws in developing the metropolitan pattern of the central city surrounded and strangled by suburban municipalities."

Let us take our obsolete annexation laws. According to the Wisconsin Statutes towns may become a city if population exceeds 5,000 and is adjacent to a first class city. The only first class city in the entire state is Milwaukee. Who is strangled?

On the other hand cities may annex land in two ways, by direct annexation and annexation by referendum.

Towns can detach land from the city in a simple process all it has to do is find an area of 200 acres or more which has been in the corporate limits 20 years or more and used exclusively for agricultural purposes. What is obsolete?

How would The Post-Crescent like the annexation laws to be rewritten? A city can annex all land adjacent to it that suits its needs without the consent of the property owners? Will it become obsolete for a taxpayer not to be able to decide under which form of government he wishes to live, be it town, village or city?

You also stated "And the frustrating fact is that many people who live in the suburbs but work in the central city benefit from this higher level of services. And so do outside residents who visit the central city for shopping, business, educational or recreational purposes."

People from the suburbs who shop in Appleton also put their dimes in the parking meters, do their banking, purchase their supplies and materials all of which contributes to Appletons tax base. There are business men from outlying areas who own and operate businesses in Appleton. They are not there land or rent free and they also employ people. Appleton receives a share of their income and real estate taxes as well.

As far as educational purposes the Town of Grand Chute in 1965 paid $535,275 in school taxes to Appleton. The Vocational School tax was $19,734.

I would like to quote from the Wisconsin Towns Association book published under the authority of s.35.20 Wisconsin Statutes. Mr. Ben. A. Hanne-man in his introduction wrote, "The 1273 towns with a population of 1,162,745 in Wisconsin, represent one third of the total population of the state. We also have over one-third of the car registration in the state and pay nearly 50 per cent of the gasoline taxes each year. . . Towns want to be left alone. Why does the present law allow a town to be pulled apart by annexation, consolidation and incorporation when a village or city cannot

There Are Gray Areas In Observing State's Fine Anti-Secrecy Law

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The reporters on the public affairs beats in Wisconsin are the spiritual authors of the state's celebrated anti-secrecy law, as Governor Knowles acknowledged obliquely the other day when he invited capitol correspondents to deliberate with him about making the open meeting requirements more effective in statehouse affairs.

Wyngaard

They are also the enforcers of the law, by the process of elimination, when they expose violations of its terms or complain in their dispatches about those officials who are not above skirting its provisions when it serves their convenience to do so. It is not a role they chose. It is forced upon them through circumstance. The district attorney and the attorney general don't cover the news. The private citizen rarely turns up at these board, commission, committee and other official meetings. The reporter is obliged to do so as a requirement of his job. Sometimes, in the interest of adherence to the spirit of the rules, he may tend to over-emphasize his complaints, as it appears to some public officials.

GRAY ZONES

Thus when the informal talks with the governor and his staff are held, it will immediately be recognized that there are some twilight or gray zones in the application of the law. Several colleagues pointed out examples at the Knowles press conference earlier this week.

It is clear enough that when a state board or commission meets to enact a regulation, as the Industrial Commission, the Board of Agriculture and many others do at their monthly sessions, the law absolutely requires that the officers must conduct their business openly.

Surely it is also implicit in the law that when a board or commission meets informally on the night or the day before a meeting on the record, as the Aeronautics Commission among others is fond of doing, it is obliged to give public notice of its intentions so that reporters and others who may be concerned have an opportunity to observe. To hold otherwise is to invite circumvention of the law's clear intention, but informal rehearsals and debates in secret, and routine ratification in public session.

This reporter would add, parenthetically, his own guess that the repeated criticisms of the Aeronautics Commission relate not so much to a desire to evade the law, as to a general clumsiness in its operations that has worried governors and leading legislators on grounds quite removed from the secrecy issue. It was what was basically involved in the legislature's attempt to put some of its own members on the board, which was struck down in a Knowles veto on the question of constitutional separation of powers.

But what of the succession of meetings and conferences and consultations held nearly each day in the governor's chambers, with his administrative subordinates, advisory committees, legislators singly and in groups? Here is one of the twilight zones of the law.

LITERAL EXCEPTION

Recent governors including the present executive have constructed their obligations broadly — in favor of open meetings and publicity. But does the law strictly require public attendance rights at what are essentially conferences and political consultations, rather than plenary sessions, as the lawyer might say? When a Republican governor wants a chat with a couple of influential Democrats about legislative problems, must he open his doors to all who want to listen? Probably the law does not intend that such meetings, which do not lead to decisions, or make a record, or have any other official effect, shall be publicly accessible.

They relate in the executive office scheme to the distinction between a caucus and a legislative meeting in the lawmaking branch. The caucus is an important thing. It often leads to decisions. But it is not decisive standing alone. A legislative committee meeting, on the other hand, leads to an official, for the record, recommendation on a legislative bill, and is therefore clearly a matter for public information. Perhaps the most encouraging fact about the Wisconsin anti-secrecy attitude is that such incidental matters are being seriously debated and reviewed.

Pay Offered Assistant City Attorney Meager

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The City of Appleton's offer to hire Dennis Herring for the office of assistant city attorney and pay him at the rate of $300 a month impels me to write a few well chosen words on this subject.

In the first place the field of law of the municipal attorney is a highly specialized one, and one in which a lawyer is certain to make more than his share of enemies if he takes his job seriously.

The writer of this letter has served as city attorney for one of the Valley cities and also has served as state chairman of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, which is composed of city attorneys throughout the United States. This organization, of which the City of Appleton is a member, has conducted a number of surveys relative to salaries of city attorneys. The writer of this letter to The Post-Crescent is acquainted with the facts of these surveys.

The writer of this letter is of the opinion that the $300 salary for Dennis Herring would be in order if, after the city hires him, they put him to work in the water department.

If the city intends to use Dennis Herring for the job for which he has been trained and is admirably qualified, I think the City of Appleton should offer him a salary which will at least partially pay him for the long hours he will spend and the grief he will incur in the position of assistant city attorney.

There are two ways of handling the office of assistant city attorney, a lawyer can either go along with the current or stand up and fight for the rights of the city he represents. I think Dennis Herring is entitled to a fair salary. I know he'll do a good job.

Britisher Known to Producers, Not Public

By MICHAEL SHORT HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He reminds some observers of Harold Lloyd. He reminds his producer of Buddy Rogers. Those who see him in the roaring twenties spoof "Thoroughly Modern Millie" (they'll have to look beyond Julie Andrews, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Channing and Beatrice Lillie) may be reminded of almost anyone except the actor himself and the parts he has played. James Fox probably has been seen by more moviegoers who can't recall his name than any other young leading man in Hollywood.

Versatile Actor

Versatility may be the reason his professional reputation outstrips his box office appeal. He was named most promising actor of the year by the Variety Club of Great Britain after playing an effete, upper-class Englishman victimized by his butler in Joseph Losey's prestigious "The Servant." From there he went on to play a pilot in "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines" and a prisoner of war in "King Rat." After another serious role in "The Chase" Fox turned to farce in "Millie," which will be finished next month. As a bespectacled playboy Fox sings, teaches a frenetic dance called the Tapioca, and scales a building in a scene reminiscent of a classic Harold Lloyd comedy from the 1920s.

True, but not entirely so. Some people can speak graciously and polite words with so much venom as to convey their hatred. Flattery can be resented because it implies that others are too stupid to recognize it. Success in human relations depends mainly upon the ability to interpret actions and clues correctly.

Showcase Explores the Roaring '20s

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Continental Showcase explores the Roaring '20s in America and presents a snappy, jazzy salute to the Broadway musical, "Bells Are Ringing." Host Jim Backus also takes viewers on a tour of simulated wax museums where he finds Germany's Heidi Bruhl and the Kessler Twins. Switzerland's Hazy Osterwald Sextet, and choreographer William Milie (c.q.) and a dance chorus. The most melodic sounds, however, come from Esther and Abi Ofarim, husband-and-wife Israeli folk singers, who offer "Cotton Fields" and "Go Tell It On The Mountain."

7:30-8 (Channels 4-5-7) — Get Smart has a nimble and not-too-gentle spoof on psychiatrists. After a splashy opener (in which secretary Merry Andrews is drowned in a telephone booth), Don Adams and Barbara Feldon are busy confusing Torin Thatcher, a doctor, who uses his couch to obtain secrets from government officials. Before Don or Barbara know it, they too are sealed in a water-filled phone booth. (R-Color)

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-12) — Secret Agent has another dandy adventure, "Parallel Lines Sometimes Meet." John Drake once more is in the West Indies on the trail of a researcher and his wife who may or may not have been kidnapped. Soon Drake is confronted with a Russian agent (a beautiful lady, no less) who claims a washed-up body as her late husband. Drake is sure the man is English. Eventually, the two join forces. (R)

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — Saturday Night at the Movies presents "Sunset Boulevard" one of the best films ever made on the problems of an aging movie star who can't face the reality of her declining years. Gloria Swanson gives a whopper of a performance as the weathered prima donna hoping for a comeback. William Holden, Erich von Stroheim and Cecil B. De Mille add impact to the story. (R)

8:30-9:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Hollywood Palace gives the green light to Robert Goulet, the star of Blue Light. As host, he twinkles bright with a medley of old standards and introduces guests Chita Rivera, who dances, Nancy Sinatra, who wails "These Boots Are Made For Walking," and Jan Murray, who tells jokes. (R-Color)

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — There's considerable tension on Gunsmoke, which is a bit more emotional than usual. Jack Elam guest stars as a gunslinger who is being hunted down by his own son (Tento Pollick). There's plenty of suspense as viewers ponder why the youth is supposedly so eager to send his pa to Boot Hill. (R)

Aid Partner With Words Of Comfort

BY ALFREDR SHEINWOLD

The most important two words in a bridge player's vocabulary are "Very unlucky." Use them when your partner finds a way to go down at an ice-cold contract.

Opening lead — ♠ Q

Put yourself in the North seat in today's hand. You are the dummy, anxiously watching your partner play the hand at four spades.

West opens the queen of hearts, and your partner wins in dummy with the king. He leads the ten of trumps from dummy, and East plays low. You keep a brave smile on your face as you watch your partner go through the process that he calls "thinking."

Finally, your partner plays a low trump from his hand. West wins with the king of trumps and leads the jack of hearts. Your partner puts up dummy's ace of hearts, and East ruffs.

Repeat Phrase

Your partner's face falls, and your murmur a comforting "Very unlucky." Your partner struggles through the hand, stuggling down one, and you repeat the magic phrase.

The idea is to keep your partner in good spirits. Maybe he will play the next hand merely badly instead of disastrously.

You could point out that East's nine of hearts on the first trick should have warned your partner of the danger of a ruff. You could observe that your partner takes the ace of trumps and leads another trump instead of trying a trump finesse.

You could win the argument and lose a partner. Stick to "Very unlucky" and you'll have happier partners and better scores.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S 10 9 8 4; H A K 6; D K 8 4; C K 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Some experts would open with one club on the theory that any hand with 13 points and 3 Quick Tricks is worth an opening bid. Most experts would pass for lack of a decent suit to bid.

To Your Good Health Laryngitis Has Many Causes and Remedies

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss the cause and remedy for laryngitis. — Mrs. A.S.

If you'll make that plural — causes and remedies — we'll get somewhere, laryngitis is irritation or swelling of the tissues of the larynx, or "voice box," which includes the vocal cords.

Acute laryngitis is the kind that usually stems from a common cold. The throat is sore. There's hoarseness, often a cough. Smoke, dust or fumes may also cause laryngitis.

This type of laryngitis subsides quickly when the original cause — the cold, or exposure to irritants — clears up.

But at this time of year, I imagine that you aren't referring to simple laryngitis, but rather to the chronic type, and with that we have to be more cautious.

When laryngitis hangs on — and let's say that means anything beyond two weeks — it's time to look for some other cause.

Of course laryngitis from a cold, which otherwise could be expected to clear up in a few days, may be prolonged if a person persists in smoking. Remedy: Stop smoking. If laryngitis doesn't subside then, consult your doctor.

Smoking alone can gradually bring on a raspy voice and an uncomfortable throat. So can a chronic discharge from the back of the throat — the post-nasal drip from nose or sinuses. Treatment of the affected part is the only effective remedy.

Singers and speakers can develop "speaker's nodes," or go hoarse, or even lose their voices. For this, the first and urgent treatment is rest for the weary, irritated larynx. Remaining silent for a number of days may be necessary. Anyone who uses his voice a great deal should take pains to give it some hours of rest every day. Even if one doesn't lose his voice, the constant irritation will gradually thicken the membranes disadvantageously.

We must always, when laryngitis hangs on, consider the possibility of a growth, a benign tumor or, more perilous, a malignant one. Cancer of the larynx is not uncommon, so any lump or growth there should be examined by biopsy, for immediate removal if it is malignant.

Four out of five cases, when discovered soon, are cured successfully. Only one in five is cured if it is allowed to spread to the lymph glands. Can you think of a better reason for having your doctor take a look if you have hoarseness that lasts two weeks or more?

Less frequent causes of laryngitis can be tuberculosis — the T.B. germs infecting the larynx — or syphilis, or unusual dryness of the membranes due to a disorder or failure of the moisture - producing mucus glands.

Therefore, the remedy for laryngitis may be one or several of the following: steam inhalations, giving up smoking, avoiding irritant fumes or dust, correction of defects of nose or sinus, control of infections other than those originating in the nose or throat, resting the voice or surgery, if a tumor is found. Make the punishment fit the crime: make the remedy fit the cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was told it is unwise for anyone with glaucoma to eat certain foods. What is a proper diet? — Mrs. V. Z.

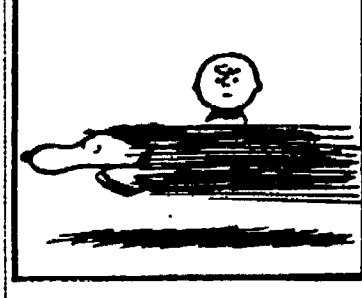

I'm afraid your informant is in error. There is no special diet (and no special food) which will retard or prevent glaucoma.

Note to M.B.: On a low-salt diet, no, do not use bouillon cubes. They are quite salty.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Topless Go Go Dancers Claim Coverup Costly

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Two go go dancers have testified each would lose $8 a night by covering up.

Nevertheless, a police court jury found the women guilty Friday of public indecency and fined them $50 apiece.

The jury deliberated 1 1/4 hours before returning the verdicts against Mary Ann Chapman, 21, Henderson, and Barbara Warner, 28, Evansville, Ind.

Fred Thomas, owner of the Silver Dollar discotheque, said he will appeal to the Court of Appeals, Kentucky's highest court, if necessary.

Thomas, testifying in the dancers' behalf, said they have danced in flesh-colored tops since summonses were served by Police Chief Charles West.

This, said Miss Chapman, would not speak to her for days costs the girls $8 a night, since their nightly covered wage is $12 compared with $20 for topless.

Error in Allowing Sinatra Plane to Land

LONDON (AP) — A government spokesman has told the House of Commons that it regretted that a private plane carrying Frank Sinatra and his young bride Mia Farrow had erroneously been given permission to land at a Royal Air Force field Sunday.

Merlyn Rees, under secretary of defense for the Royal Air Force, said the Sinatra plane exceeded weight regulations for the field "and I regret therefore that an error was made in giving approval in this case."

Thilmany Enters Second Part Of Multi-Million Dollar Project

5 Transient Teen Workers Being Sought

WEYAUWEGA — Warrants have been issued for five teenage transient farm laborers wanted in connection with four break-ins which netted $800 early Friday morning.

A statewide alert has been sent out for the laborers, believed to be driving a late model car. The fugitives, three 18 and two 17 years old, are from South Dakota. They arrived in the area during the past few days to do field work at a rural Weyauwega farm.

Less than $50 was taken from the Weyauwega Cooperative. City police discovered the break-in at 3:30 a.m. today. At Koplien's Coast to Coast, thieves netted $600. About $200 was taken from the Friendly Bar. Thieves also broke into the Real Estate Builders office, across the street from the Co-op, but no money was taken nor damage inflicted.

Pool Attendance Hits 148,000

An estimated 148,038 Appleton residents have used the city's two municipal pools so far this summer.

The season's attendance was computed Friday by the city recreation department.

A total of 78,789 persons have used Mead Park Pool and 69,249 the Erb Park facilities.

Small Woodland Tracts Form Significant Part Of State Forest Area

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The woodland tax law designed by the legislature a decade ago for the benefit of smaller landowners has become a significant part of the state's forestry program.

More than 5,000 entries of smaller tracts, in about 800 Wisconsin rural towns, encompass 123,000 acres of growing forest, the conservation department reports.

The purpose of the law is to encourage forest management practices under the inducement of lower land taxes, after the precedent of the forest crop law which offers property tax reductions for larger land owners under the same conditions.

Paper-Making Machine Installed, Huge Boiler Facility Work Started

KAUKAUNA — A multi-million dollar expansion at Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. is well underway, with completion of a $1.5 million paper making machine installation and work started on a new boiler installation, water treatment facilities, turbine generator, pulp warehouse and plans for a finished paper warehouse and a new office building.

According to company officials, construction cost estimates have not been completed. Construction on the steam and power facilities have been in progress since March, with many pieces of the major equipment received at the present time, officials said.

Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co., Appleton, is general contractor.

Woman Says 'Mrs.' 'Miss' Ridiculous

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The titles "Miss" or "Mrs." which reflect a woman's success in her quest for a husband, should be abolished, according to Philippa Harris.

Mrs. Harris, a Briton who works for the United Nations in Paris, says the titles reflect a society where the most important thing for a woman was marriage. Today, when women struggle more for independence, the titles are ridiculous, she said.

Some 450 career women from 19 nations cheered her proposal at the opening Wednesday of the ninth soroptimist congress here.

Soroptimist comes from the Latin words "soror", meaning sister, and "optima", meaning the best.

Firemen Flush Gasoline From Area of Station

Firemen were called to Ralph's Service Station, 1222 S. Oneida St., at 7:43 a.m. today after a transport unloading gasoline overflowed an underground storage tank.

Firemen said as a precautionary measure the area was flushed with water for 20 minutes.

Kaukauna Methodists Plan Three Meetings

KAUKAUNA — The Methodist Church has scheduled three meetings for Thursday. The church school will meet at 6:30 p.m. The trustees and finance commissions convene at 7 p.m. and the official board will meet at 8 p.m.

Order Probation On Check Charge

Mrs. Wilma Wydevan, 30, 719 E. Franklin St., Friday afternoon was placed on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for 18 months after her plea of guilty to a worthless check charge.

Appleton police, who conducted the investigation, said Mrs. Wydevan, cashed an $85 worthless check July 18 at Appleton State Bank.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered that terms of probation be restitution of the check and payment of court costs.

Boiler Capacity

The dual cyclone boiler will have a continuous capacity of 350,000 p.p.h. of steam at 1,500 pounds and 950 degrees Fahrenheit. This is one of the largest industrial boilers in the state and one of the few boilers in the area designed for 1,500 pounds pressure, according to Norm Zanzig, Thilmany official.

Power facilities will include a 7,500 k.w. topping turbine and a 12,500 k.v.a. generator.

Turbine Building

The location of the turbine generator and boiler make-up water treatment system will be a new building to the south of the present turbine building.

A two-story pulp and chemical warehouse, 159 by 115 feet, was started in April at the north end of No. 2 mill. The new facility will have approximately 36,000 square feet of floor space. Two truck docks will be provided with provisions for future addition of rail docks along the present tracks.

Warehouse Facility

The warehouse facility will have about 90,000 square feet of warehouse floor space with 10 truck docks and four railroad track shipping areas.

Construction will be a concrete slab on cassettes, metal panel or brick walls, fabricated steel frame with metal roof deck.

Engineering is completing drawings for the building even while construction of the cassettes and concrete slab is underway, Zanzig said. Structural steel is expected to be delivered so construction can start in September with a completion date scheduled for the end of the year Zanzig said.

In preparation for the new warehouse the company is in the process of relocating Thilmany Road and parking areas located on the building site.

Reassessed Landowners To be Notified

Appleton property owners who had assessment increases levied this year will be getting a card soon from the city assessor's office.

The open house period for residents to inspect the tax rolls will be held from Aug. 15 to 26 during regular office hours.

The assessors' office is located on the first floor of the city hall building.

Assessment rolls are being prepared by Assessor John Pierre and his staff.

Property owners who want to object to assessments may do so by appearing before the board of review. Forms for filing objections and being scheduled for a hearing before the board can be obtained from the city clerk.

Efforts Continue To Save Doomed Zoo Animals From Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department and Small Business Administration have agreed to try to eliminate long delays in the litigation of civil cases concerning small business investment corporations.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today.

Proxmire, chairman of a Senate banking subcommittee, said delays arising from jurisdictional squabbles "must not be permitted to continue."

The problem came to light during recent hearings by his subcommittee, Proxmire said.

He said that in conference with officials of the Justice Department and SBA, agreement was reached that a 1963 plan to date, serving a 16-day sentence after he was unable to pay a $35 fine for vagrancy, Friday afternoon pleaded guilty to a theft charge brought following investigation by Appleton police.

Donald E. Chapin, 55, Rosendale, was reached that a 1963 plan to date, serving a 16-day sentence after he was unable to pay a $35 fine for vagrancy, Friday afternoon pleaded guilty to a theft charge brought following investigation by Appleton police.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller sentenced Chapin to three months in jail, the bond and this was found guilty term to run consecutive with the prior sentence.

Police said Chapin, initially arrested earlier this week, stole a Outagamie County Court suitcase containing clothes and tools, from a car parked in, at College Avenue and Durkee downtown Appleton.

Committee 'About Faces' On Meeting

Talks Between Counties Approved By Outagamie Unit

The Outagamie County Board's executive committee did an apparent "about face" Friday and placed its unanimous stamp of approval on a proposal to hold an informal six-county meeting for board members.

Executive committee members Wednesday were somewhat cool to the proposal made last month by Appleton supervisors George Greisch and Eugene Kloes.

Kloes appeared at Friday's meeting and told committee members that it was "now or never" concerning the gathering of board members from Outagamie, Calumet, Brown, Shawano, Waupaca and Winnebago counties.

'Fell Through'

The Appleton supervisor said that if the committee failed to go on record now favoring the proposal, officials of the other five county boards would be informed that the idea "fell through."

The committee followed Kloes' advice by passing the motion. The matter will come up at the county board meeting Tuesday for consideration by all supervisors.

Kloes said later that the proposal has met with favorable reaction from officials of other county boards. He said letters to the five boards would be mailed out immediately. The matters will spell out the details of the planned program that is tentatively set for Aug. 25 at Pierce Park.

Appleton Police Spot Stolen Motorbike Seven Minutes After Report

Appleton police located two teen-age youths riding a stolen motor bike seven minutes after the theft was reported Friday night.

James Pfefferle, 1619 Carver Lane, told police the machine was taken from inside a closed garage between 9:15 and 11 p.m. at which time the report was made.

Police spotted the stolen bike at 11:07 a.m. being ridden by two youths on W. Wisconsin Avenue. Police attempted to stop the youths at Wisconsin and Richmond Street. The driver of the stolen vehicle turned away from the police car and after a short chase, the youths abandoned the motorbike in the 800 block of W. Kamps Street and fled on foot, police said.

The boys managed to elude the police. The bike was taken to the city garage, police said.

The Appleton supervisor said that if the committee failed to go on record now favoring the proposal, officials of the other five county boards would be informed that the idea "fell through."

The committee followed Kloes' advice by passing the motion. The matter will come up at the county board meeting Tuesday for consideration by all supervisors.

Kloes said later that the proposal has met with favorable reaction from officials of other county boards. He said letters to the five boards would be mailed out immediately. The matters will spell out the details of the planned program that is tentatively set for Aug. 25 at Pierce Park.

Efforts Continue To Save Doomed Zoo Animals From Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department and Small Business Administration have agreed to try to eliminate long delays in the litigation of civil cases concerning small business investment corporations.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today.

Proxmire, chairman of a Senate banking subcommittee, said delays arising from jurisdictional squabbles "must not be permitted to continue."

The problem came to light during recent hearings by his subcommittee, Proxmire said.

He said that in conference with officials of the Justice Department and SBA, agreement was reached that a 1963 plan to date, serving a 16-day sentence after he was unable to pay a $35 fine for vagrancy, Friday afternoon pleaded guilty to a theft charge brought following investigation by Appleton police.

Donald E. Chapin, 55, Rosendale, was reached that a 1963 plan to date, serving a 16-day sentence after he was unable to pay a $35 fine for vagrancy, Friday afternoon pleaded guilty to a theft charge brought following investigation by Appleton police.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller sentenced Chapin to three months in jail, the bond and this was found guilty term to run consecutive with the prior sentence.

Police said Chapin, initially arrested earlier this week, stole a Outagamie County Court suitcase containing clothes and tools, from a car parked in, at College Avenue and Durkee downtown Appleton.

West High Sets Program Procedure

Dates Slated For Correction Of Scheduling

Programs for Appleton High School West students have been finalized and mailed.

A special procedure is to be followed by students to correct any errors or omissions.

Students can correct errors beginning at 10 a.m. Sept. 2 in the corridor adjacent to the office. Sophomore students who have attended the orientation meeting will have adjustments made at 10 a.m.

Juniors and seniors may come between 10 and 11:45 a.m. and 1:15 and 3:30 p.m.

Program problems other than errors and corrections will be corrected beginning at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 13.

School officials say student programs will not be changed to accommodate part-time work schedules.

This procedure is a change from the original plan to have separate evening sessions during the second week of school. With the new schedule it is hoped that most adjustments can be made before sessions begin, this giving early stability to the classes.

Humphrey Lauds Thilmany Role in Youth Campaign

KAUKAUNA — A letter of commendation from Vice President Hubert Humphrey has been received by Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. for the part it played in the 1966 Youth Opportunity Campaign. Thilmany employed a record 132 students for summer work.

About 50 per cent of the students had previous experience with the firm, the rest were picked from approximately 300 applicants. As in the past, local students and those who had previously worked for the company were given preference.

Application processing started in April and by June many of the applicants were able to start work, according to officials. A total of 114 students are earning hourly wages and the remaining are salaried.

At least 29 colleges or universities are represented in the mill, officials said. The University of Wisconsin and its extensions, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh, and St. Norbert's College account for most of the students.

Permit for New Menasha Law Office Issued

Franzoi and Franzoi To Build on Corner Sixth and Racine

MENASHA — Building Inspector Earl Kalm issued a permit this week for construction of a single-story office building at 514 Racine Street by Franzoi & Franzoi, Attorneys.

Bare building costs of the frame structure with split rock exterior is estimated at $24,700.

The 35 by 63 foot floor plan includes a waiting room, secretary's office, two law offices, a library with small office adjoining, a kitchen and a separate office in the rear. The law firm intends to lease the rear office space.

The building at the corner of Sixth and Racine streets had originally been scheduled for construction in April, but was delayed during discussions between the law firm and the city over right-of-way for widening Sixth Street in that block.

As finally approved this week by the common council, the firm deeded a strip of land 12 feet by 119 to the city in return for a permanent deed covenant guaranteeing angle parking on the strip, and for the city's promise to blacktop the parking area on the law office property.

The 20th home construction permit this year was issued to Donald Lesperance for a 50 by 34 foot dwelling at 932 Ida St., at an estimated bare building cost of $12,500. Donald Gehrt is the contractor.

Last year, the 20th home permit was issued nearly a month earlier than this year's, according to Kalm.

Motor Trolling Considered

Outlying Waters Fishing License Suggested by Study Committee

OSHKOSH — New state legislation to provide a fishing license on so-called outlying waters, an expansion of motor trolling, and underwater spear fishing regulations were proposed here Friday by a study committee of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress.

Working on proposals for the 1968 fishing season, the committee on warm water fishing favored legislation to require a state license for game fish in outlying waters such as lakes Michigan and Superior.

Members proposed that the conservation commission open lakes of over 1,000 acres in size to motor trolling where county option favors it. Muskie waters were not included.

Regulations for underwater spear fishing by skin divers should coincide with spear fishing rules, they said.

Shore Activity Zone

The committee took no action, but appeared to endorse individually the need for legislation to establish a standard, statewide "shoreline activity zone" to control boat speeds and water skiing. Members said the measure is a safety and shoreline preservation matter.

In a nearly three-hour session at area conservation headquarters, the committee reviewed about half of the proposals submitted from county meetings of fishermen throughout the state last April. The work will be continued at a November session in preparation for a report to the council of the congress next February.

The congress annually develops a statewide public consensus as an advisory to the Wisconsin Conservation Commission in establishing state fishing regulations.

Allow Tip-Ups

Committee members attending the session were Ervin Withbroe, Brown County, co-chairman; Carl A. Scholz, Door County; Roy Kurtz, Walworth County; and Dan Trainer, Green Lake County. C. W. Threinen, Madison, state Conservation Department representative, assisted in the review.

Winnebago County's proposal that three tip-ups be allowed on Winneconne, Poygan and Butte des Morts lakes failed to win committee endorsement. Lake Winnebago appeared likely to continue to be the state's only lake where the practice is allowed.

A move by Racine and Waukesha counties to gain the three-line ice fishing privilege for waters of Kenosha, Racine and Waukesha counties was similarly rejected by the committee. The three-line rule is allowed on Winnebago.

Wolf River

Waupaca County's recommendation that the Wolf River be included in the state's fall hook and line season for sturgeon will be an advisory question referred to the May statewide session.

A number of requests from counties asking for motor trolling on big lakes was endorsed by the committee under its proposed new policy legislation. They included Buffalo and Puckaway lakes in Green Lake County.

NM School Census Exceeds Projections

Neenah School Age Children Up 6.3 Per Cent

NEENAH — The count of children from infants through 19 years residing in the Neenah Joint School District continues to rise, with the school census revealing an increase of 5.1 per cent for 1966.

More serious problems may be reflected in this year's count of boys and girls in the actual school age bracket from five through 18 which shows a 6.3 per cent increase this year, instead of a predicted 3.7 per cent made by the Citizen's Lay Committee last June.

There are 12,678 boys and girls of all ages residing within the district. The principal changes in the school age pattern is a smaller number of infants and one year olds and the larger numbers in the ranks of five, six, eight, nine, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 19 year olds.

A further swelling of the number of school children in the age bracket from five years through 18 years this year brings the total to 9,073, compared with 8,534 in 1965, an increase of 6.3 per cent. The city of Neenah's growth since 1960 census is estimated at 23.74 per cent, or 4.75 per cent per year by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission figures.

To warrant the present $2.2 million building and remodeling program, the Citizens Lay Committee projected a 3.7 per cent growth from 1965 to 1966, or an undercalculation of 2.6 per cent. Through the past five years enrollment projections in Neenah have always been conservative, one board of education member said today.

The figures substantiate the contention of the board of education that Coolidge School addition and Conant Junior High School will have to be put into immediate use this September.

Last year there were 12,042 children in the district, an increase of 6.4 per cent over the previous year, and the peak growth during the last five year period.

The census was taken in the 10 wards of the city and the towns of Clayton, Menasha, Neenah and Vinland.

More Boys

The boys outnumbered the girls in the total district by 318. In the city there are 196 more boys than girls and in the towns there are 122 more boys than girls.

In the Town of Clayton the girls outnumber the boys, 238 to 217 at all ages and in the Town of Vinland there are 173 girls and 163 boys. Boys have the "upperhand" in numbers in the Town of Menasha, 741 to 665, and the boys outnumber the girls by 93 in the Town of Neenah, with 712 boys and 614 girls counted.

The Ninth Ward in the city continues to have the highest pupil population potential with 884 boys and 797 girls. This ward contains Horace Mann JHS, Wilson and Coolidge elementary schools, Trinity and Grace Lutheran schools and St. Margaret Mary Catholic school.

The Second Ward has 1,312 boys and girls, with 673 boys and 639 girls. Children of school age in this ward customarily attend Lincoln, Hoover, McKin-

Chamber Forms Unit To Support Airport

Regional Airport Citizens Committee Will Serve as Spokesman for Expansion

OSHKOSH — The Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce has approved the creation of a new "Regional Airport Citizens Committee" to serve as "a common spokesman for a strong, viable regional airport."

M. Edward Kelly, executive vice president of the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce, today said two of the main objectives of the proposed citizens committee would be to promote improved air service at the Winnebago County Airport and to conduct marketing studies to support efforts for improved service.

An Oshkosh Citizens Committee had been formed several years ago but has been relatively inactive recently with the Chamber's Aviation Committee carrying most of the load. The Regional Citizens Committee would again activate the citizen interest, Kelly said.

A meeting of the Chamber Aviation Committee and board of directors is scheduled for Aug. 18 at which time the members of the citizens committee will probably be appointed, he said.

Among the listed objectives of the new group are:

To promote continued expansion of commercial and general aviation in the area served by the Winnebago County Airport.

To advocate construction, installation and expansion of any physical facilities needed to serve the needs of commercial or general aviation at the Oshkosh Airport.

To conduct research, collect and prepare testimony, engage legal counsel, and engage in any other lawful activities that will assist in arriving at intelligent decisions related to the growth and development of the airport.

To support favorable air service legislation on all levels of government.

The mailing address of the citizens group will be the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce, and the executive vice president of the Oshkosh chamber will serve as permanent secretary of the committee.

The chamber plans to recruit membership from the total area served by the airport. Chamber guidelines now list the maximum number on the committee at 20, with not more than 10 from Winnebago County, three from Fond du Lac and Outagamie counties, and two from Waushara and Green Lake counties.

Formation of the committee comes at a time when a major expansion of the airport is underway. In September a $2 million construction project will be launched to add a new 6,700-foot runway capable of supporting jet traffic.

North Central Airlines plans to start jet service to the airport in the spring with DC-9s.

Also in the works are overlaying the present east-west runway to serve as temporary jet runway and later as an auxiliary jet strip, moving the present control tower that is in line with the planned runway and construction of a new terminal at an estimated cost ranging from $250,000 to $500,000.

Menasha Has 113 More Children

MENASHA — An increase of 1.2 per cent, or 113 more children, has been counted in the June 30, 1966 school census. The number is enough to fill the four extra classrooms the board of education has been asked to provide this year.

The census shows 9,388 boys and girls, compared with 9,275 counted in 1965. The 1965 census showed an increase of 149 children, or a 1.6 per cent gain.

In the annexed district, which has been growing steadily since 1962 when the Maplewood area joined the district, there are 2,423 boys and girls through age 19. The six city wards of the city show a total number of 6,965.

This continued growth, which has been reflected through the past ten years bears out the recommendations of the board of education's planning committee which predicted two years ago that "where there were then two children in each grade there would be three by 1974."

Since 1957, 2,348 more children have been added to the school census showing all ages through 19 years. There has been a growth of 908 in the past five years.

Projected figures by the Co-operative Education Research Service early in 1965 estimated that there would be 3,187 children enrolled in public schools in the city by the fall of 1965. This was an increase of 4.4 per cent in growth over the previous year.

During the 1965-66 school year, parochial and private school enrollments totaled 3,360 children.

The largest growth indicated in the 1966 census was in the Town of Menasha annexed area, with 133 children (ages 0 through 19) more than last year. Ward Six followed with 105 more children than last year. The greatest decrease was in the fourth ward which lost 75 children in the all age bracket.

Census figures show: Town of Menasha, 1,316; Ward One, 644; Ward Two, 930; Ward Three, 756; Ward Four, 1,057; Ward Five, 858 and Ward Six, 975.

Complete 1966 Sweep

Foxes Top Decatur

DECATUR, Ill. — It's a race when one professional baseball team can sweep a season series from another team, but the Fox Cities Foxes did just that last night as they beat Decatur, 4-3, for the 14th time this season. Included in the Foxes' 14-0 record against Decatur are six 1-run decisions.

All of last night's scoring came in the first two innings. The Foxes struck for two in the first and second frames and the Commodores tallied all three of their runs in the first.

With one out in the first, Jerry Boehmer beat out a hit to short and advanced to third on a double to right by James Maness. Bill (Ozark Ike) Melton plated both runners with a single.

Decatur came back in its half of the frame as Scott Nielsen was safe on shortstop Berke Reichenbach's error with one out. Ron Grossmiller and Al Deravin walked to load the bases and Andy Rubilotta then uncorked a wild pitch for one run and a ball got by the catcher Doug Adams for the second marker. Jim Mallon drove in Deravin with a single to left for run No. 3.

In the second inning, Adams attempted to redeem his miscue as he beat out a dribbler down the third base line. Reichenbach and Rubilotta went down swinging, but Al Kristowski lined a shot to center. The center fielder misjudged the ball giving Kristowski a double and allowing the tying run to score. Boehmer followed with his second hit, a single to center, to bring in Kristowski with the eventual winning run.

The Cub third baseman was out of the lineup for 10 days earlier this season with a fractured cheekbone, courtesy of an errant pitch by Jack Fisher of the Mets. Friday, Bob Bolin of the Giants took a couple of shots at him.

They didn't go any good, though Santo hit two home runs and a two run single in the 10th that gave Chicago a 4-3 victory.

Sandusky Not Retiring, Returns After Deciding He Can Help Baltimore

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced Friday that offensive guard Alex Sandusky has decided not to retire after all, and has re-joined the team.

Sandusky retired last year after his 12th season in the National Football League. The team asked Sandusky, 34, to return this year, but he decided only this week "that I could help the club."

25th Homer

Happy with that result, Bolin tried it again when Santo led off the bottom of the ninth with San Francisco leading 2-1. But he clumbed out of the dirt and hit his 25th homer of the season, sending the game into overtime.

In other National League games, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh, 4-3. St. Louis beat New York 7-1. Atlanta crushed Philadelphia 9-2 and Los Angeles pounded Houston 12-1.

Packers Crush All-Stars on Strong Air, Ground Attack

Starr Throws Two TD Passes, Taylor Scores Twice in 38-0 Win

CHICAGO — This was supposed to be the best College All-Star team in the 33-year history of the midsummer football classic.

If so, the Packers have a powerhouse in the making. While the skills of the All Stars as a group are always open to question — what with only three weeks of preparation, the manner in which Green Bay mauled their opposition certainly left room for a tiny bit of title optimism at this early stage.

In case you tuned out before the end of the uneven fourth quarter, it can be reported here that the final score in Soldier Field Friday night was 38 to 0. This tied the worst beating the All-Stars ever absorbed. The Philadelphia Eagles of 1949 beat the Stars by the same score.

The All-Stars — no doubt the highest-priced "amateur" club ever assembled, what with the late bidding war between the two leagues — wound up in a fit of frustration.

They engaged in unnecessary fights in the process of blowing their poises in plain view of a live audience of 72,000 and millions on television.

The Packers finished off Joe College with three touchdowns in the second quarter for a 28-0 halftime edge. While Bart Starr, Jim Taylor and a few others played the third quarter, which finished 38-0, Coach Vince Lombardi launched his testing of new personnel at the start of the second half.

Completes Pass

And if you thought there were some strange Packers on the field in the fourth quarter, you were right. For example, Bill Symons just missed a touchdown pass to a fellow by the name of Sonny Redders. And Ron Smith completed an 18-yard loss to Redders and overthrew Jeff White on another pass attempt.

The youngsters still had enough go at the end to permit Don Chandler to get within field goal range. But he missed from the 32 and 43, either of which would have snapped the Eagles' record.

The Packers defense was a real tough nut, but the shutout didn't come easy in the second half. The All-Stars got to the Packer six and 22-yard lines, but the drives were ended by an interception by Dave Robinson and a fumble recovery by Tommy Crutcher.

The Packers' two All-Stars, Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, bit the dust along with the next of their teammates, although Anderson, who played flanker and running back, had to leave in the second quarter with an ankle injury. Grabowski was hitting hard but he had to settle for 13 yards in four carries.

The Stars were limited to 10 first downs and 157 net yards, 57 of which came on a run by quarterback Gary Lane when he couldn't find a receiver. While the Packers were making hay in the first half, the Stars made but two first downs and 53 yards.

The Packers rolled up 388 yards — about 325 of it in the first three quarters. They rushed for 166 yards, with Taylor blasting for 78, and passed for 222. Starr completed 13 of 22 for 177 and his favorite receiver was Boyd Dowler who caught six for 80 yards in the first half.

Adderley Scores

Taylor scored two touchdowns — one on a typical blast-out-of-the-pile drive of 13 yards; Starr passed 10 yards to Dowler and Bill Anderson for 13 for touchdowns. And Herb Adderley kept the defense from an offensive shutout by returning a Bill Anderson (of the Stars) pass for 34 yards and a TD. Chandler kicked the five extra points and booted a 17-yard field goal.

The All-Stars made a mistake on the first play of the game — a fumble by Steve Sloan, and Lionel Aldridge recovered on the Star 33. Taylor ripped the right side for 19 yards, and three plays later Starr passed to Dowler who bounced off the goal post for six.

Paul Hornung, who went out with a thumb injury on the second play of the second half, fumbled to thwart a second Packer drive on the Star 19-yard line. The Packers threatened right away, but this time a

Pete Sidesteps Comments on Brodie's Salary

Says Problem of Dual Contracts Hasn't Been Met

CHICAGO (AP) — Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, deftly sidestepped Friday any concrete comment on reports that quarterback John Brodie had extracted the highest salary in pro football when he signed with the San Francisco 49ers.

Asked at a meeting of the Football Writers Association whether the contract had been so enormous — a reported $915,000 — because the Houston Oilers had chipped in, Rozelle said:

"I know Bud Adams (Houston owner) is benevolent but I don't think he's that benevolent."

Rozelle also said that the two merged leagues had not tackled the problems of any players who had wound up with two signed contracts in the last days of the pro football war "because as of now there has been no litigation involved."

Brodie is reported to have been one of the players to have reached agreement with the American League on playing out his option and then hopping leagues for the 1967 season. However, reports never have been confirmed.

Offered Contract

At the time of the reports, Brodie was said to have been offered a $750,000 contract by Adams' Oilers.

When the two leagues merged Brodie did not immediately sign with the 49ers, taking himself to Hawaii instead as a holdout and insisting he would not play again unless the 49ers met his terms.

There were reports at the time that Brodie also was considering instituting a suit and that every club in pro football was chipping in to induce Brodie to drop his proposed legal action. These reports were not confirmed either.

When Brodie ultimately ended his holdout and signed with the 49ers, the Oakland Tribune said in a copyrighted story that he got $915,000 to sign.

Vince Says Pack Was 'Up; Sauer Admits 'Weaknesses'

Dowler Stars Despite Illness; Donnie Anderson Hurts Foot

BY LEE REMMEL Post-Crescent News Service

CHICAGO — Although the picture of composure, hardly a surprise under the agreeable circumstances, Vince Lombardi was temporarily at a loss for words minutes after the Packers' 38-0 decimation of the College All-Stars Friday night.

"I really don't know what to say about this one," he soberly announced as a swarm of reporters converged upon him in the steamy Green Bay dressing room, deep in the recesses of sprawling Soldier Field.

"Yes, I think we were up," Lombardi conceded, "but I don't believe in this revenge business (an obvious reference to the Packers' 20-17 comeuppance in their last All-Star appearance in 1963).

Emphasis Point

Had his players "concentrated a little harder" this time, a Chicago scribe asked, "I think so." Vince replied, nodding his head to emphasize the point.

Any particular reason why Bart Starr has played as long as he had, another Windy City writer wanted to know. "He only played half of the third quarter," the Packers' major domo shot back. "Any particular reason? I wish I could play him that long all the time."

Asked to compare the '66 All-Stars with their '63 counterparts, Lombardi observed, "I don't remember the '63 team that well — I really couldn't compare them."

Reporting on the condition of Paul Hornung, the subject of another question, Vince informed, "he had a dislocated thumb and I guess he jammed it a little bit."

Had he been scared when he saw Hornung fail to rise immediately? Lombardi flashed a wry smile and rejoined, "I've been in this business too long to get scared any more."

Any comment on the condition of the field (it was completely devoid of grass in many areas, following a rodeo appearance three weeks earlier)? "Heh, heh," Lombardi chuckled. "What point is there in saying anything about it now?"

The conversation turned to the heartening performances of Packer rookies, and Lombardi noted, "Rector (Ron) looked fine, Bob Brown looked fine and Hathcock (Dave) did a good job, too."

He also tossed bouquets in the direction of two veterans, volunteering, "Jimmy Taylor ran very, very well and I thought Starr had a very sharp day."

Had he been aware of the Packers' bulging point spread had matched an All-Star record set in the Philadelphia Eagles' 38-0 victory in 1949? "No, I wasn't aware of it," Lombardi said, appending, "I don't give a damn, either."

How did he assess the Pack's performance? "I thought for the first game of the season we were quite sharp."

Had there been, in his estimation, any defensive standout? "I think it had us hopping in practice."

Offense captain Bob Skoronski, an equally happy citizen, expressed similar sentiments in a slightly different fashion. "My own opinion was there was no way we're going to lose this ball game," he said. "We definitely were humiliated down there three years ago."

"There was a lot of anxiety before the game," he added by way of documentation. "The guys started to crowd around the door — you knew they were ready to play. I think the feeling was right there from the start of the evening."

Puckish Willie Wood, author of the electrifying 69-yard second quarter punt return that triggered the Pack's No. 2 touchdown and dealt a body blow to the All-Stars, grinned and confided, "That was my last one until the season."

Sets Up Blocking

It had not been an accident, he further informed. "Things went along right according to plan," Willie said. "We set up our blocking to the left, which is the way I cut after catching the punt. And it was a long, deep kick, which gave me the opportunity to set up my blocking, so all I had to do was follow my blocking."

Had he, upon making his final cut to the middle, felt he might go all the way? "I didn't know," Wood replied.

"They had two men back here — it looked like one behind the punter. I saw Doug Hart coming up the right out of the corner of my eye. So I tried to jockey around, but the stuff from behind me caught me."

Willie's fellow defender, Herb Adderley, smilingly shrugged off his 34-yard touchdown sortie with an interception, asserting, "that's just being in the right place at the right time. The receiver broke his pattern for me, when he found I was tight on him, and the quarterback didn't see him when he turned up field. The rest was easy, particularly after Dave Robinson cleared out the last man with a beautiful block."

Rangy Boyd Dowler, the Packers' most prolific receiver

Penny McCoy Places Third In Slalom

World Alpine Meet Win Gained By Annie Famose

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — Penny McCoy, a 16-year-old from Bishop, Calif., says it was a combination of fear and determination that drove her down the crucial second run in the World Alpine Championships.

Penny, who led the American competitors with a third-place finish in the women's slalom Friday, recalled her thoughts at the starting line of the second run.

"Oh, boy, this is terrible," she said she thought, "I don't have a chance now."

But with that, she said, a calm settled over her and she plunged through the 52 gate course for the second time, good enough for a combined time of 92.35 seconds and third place.

Annie Famose and Marielle Goitschel of France finished one-two, with times of 90.48 and 90.95 respectively. Jean Saubert, McCall, Idaho, was fourth at 92.37; Cathy Allen, San Pedro, Calif., fifth at 92.72; and her sister, Wendy, eighth at 93.44 in the field off 44 from 11 nations.

The next major event in the championships is the men's downhill, set for Sunday.

Mrs. Aaron Charged With Cursing, Failure To Obey an Officer

ATLANTA (AP) — The wife of Atlanta Braves' outfielder Henry Aaron has been charged with cursing and failing to obey an officer's command, police said Friday.

Patrolman W. W. Bedgood said he gave copies of the charges to Mrs. Barbara A. Aaron after her car brushed against his knees outside Atlanta Stadium July 30.

The officer said Mrs. Aaron got out of the car and argued with him. She was scheduled to appear in municipal court August 16.

Tree of Favors Can be Used For Almost Any Occasion

BY CAPPY DICK

The tree of favors shown in Figure 2 is suitable as a table centerpiece for almost any occasion — birthday parties, patriotic holiday parties and even Christmas and New Year's parties. Once the tree has been made it can be adapted to all such events.

FIG. 1

This tree of favors uses funnel base.

Select a dead branch that will look like a complete tree when it has been placed in the end of a funnel to hold it upright as in Figure 2. It need be only 12 or 15 inches high. The funnel will add additional height.

Clean the tree thoroughly and apply one or two coats of clear shellac to give it a shine and preserve the bark.

Select a Funnel

After selecting a funnel of suitable size, paint it green. The trunk end of the tree need only be pressed into the funnel, but do this carefully so the tree will be balanced perfectly on its base and won't topple.

The tree may be trimmed in a variety of ways to suit various occasions. Figure 2 shows it trimmed with small favors for party guests. In place of favors, artificial flowers could be attached. Small imitation fruits can be substituted.

Monday: Fun for every boy and girl!

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

4th Division Unit Arrives In Viet Nam

Balance of Force
Expected to Land
In Near Future

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, which won fame in two world wars, landed in South Viet Nam today and was immediately airlifted to the central highlands, one of this country's major battle-grounds.

The arrival raised U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam to about 230,000 men and highlighted a day in which ground fighting dwindled to sporadic and light actions.

In the air, however, a U.S. spokesman said heavy strikes continued against North Viet Nam — where Red gunners fired 15 Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles at raiding American warplanes Friday.

Successful Sweep

One of the most successful raids was a sweep at a 40-truck convoy heading south under cover of darkness. Strafing and bombing attacks set 25 of the trucks aflame in strikes Friday night and early today.

The military spokesman said the only fighting reported today was in the highlands west of Pleiku and about five miles from the Cambodian frontier — an area where some 10,000 U.S. soldiers are hunting the Viet Cong. The light clash today came when a reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division hit what was apparently a covering force of North Vietnamese regulars.

Details of the action were scant, the spokesman said, but the U.S. forces were pressing on into the area.

The 4th (Ivy) Division, based at Ft. Lewis, Wash., is commanded by Maj. Gen. A. S. Collins Jr. It is best known for its D-Day landing on Utah Beach in France in World War II. It also claims to be the first allied unit to reach German soil in that war. In World War I, it fought in the Meuse-Argonne campaign, among others.

The rest of the division is expected to arrive in South Viet Nam in the near future. U.S. officials have predicted that 350,000 to 400,000 troops will be here by the end of the year.

In the air war, giant B52s from Guam flew in this morning for a high-altitude saturation strike on a suspected Viet Cong jungle hideout in Quang Tin Province south of Da Nang.

Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots flew 105 missions over North Viet Nam today, plastering supply and military targets from far above Hanoi down to the 17th Parallel.

New Jersey Girl Killed In Car Crash

WITTENBERG — A 17-year-old New Jersey girl was killed Friday afternoon when the car in which she was a passenger went out of control on U.S. 45 a mile north of here and overturned several times.

Marguerite Shaw, Wildwood, N.J., was riding in the car driven by her brother, Christopher, 22. Wisconsin State Traffic Patrol authorities think the single-car accident might have been caused by a defective steering apparatus.

The family, including the Rev. and Mrs. Lewison Shaw, parents of the victim, had been vacationing at Rhinelander. The older Shaws were driving in a second car.

Christopher Shaw suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to Wausau Memorial Hospital by the Schmidt Ambulance. Helke Funeral Home, Wausau, is in charge of arrangements.

Rock Fells King

Racial Violence Hits Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Racial violence wracked a tidy all-white neighborhood Friday for the second time this week and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was felled by a rock, said the eruption was fostered by the worst hate he has ever seen.

King promised the marchers would return to the area.

More than 6,000 frenzied white residents of the Southwest Side rioted during and after a march by 300 civil rights demonstrators.

The civil rights group is demanding open housing. The Chicago Lawn residents say they had built up the neighborhood and that Negroes would degrade it.

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, got to his feet, ripped off his tie and began forming the demonstrators into a line for the march.

King, who spends two or three days a week in Chicago working on a campaign to eliminate slums, said after the march: "We shall have to keep coming back."

Police arrested 39 white per-

Advertise in Britain

'Save the Beatles,' Say Two American Girls

London (AP) — Two American girls called on Britons today to support their "Save the Beatles campaign" in the United States.

Their appeal in an ad in the personal column of the Daily Telegraph, came as the "Ban the Beatles" campaign spread to Spain and South Africa and a new controversy stirred up in Britain.

The American girls are Susan Dobbs and Theresa Earles of Hopewell, Va. Their ad said they had founded the "Save the Beatles campaign" in the United States.

"We Love Them"

It went on: "Dozens of radio stations across the states are banning their records and having bonfires, because of a statement by John Lennon. We have a petition to get them back on the air. Please, England help us we love them too."

Woman Found Dead After Family Quarrel

Shirley Ann Hanson, 34,
Rural Clintonville, Dies;
Husband Held by Police

CLINTONVILLE — A 34-year-old mother of eight was found dead at her rural Clintonville home early this morning and Waupaca County sheriff authorities have said they will seek a warrant for the arrest of the woman's husband.

The victim was Shirley Ann Hanson, route 2.

Held in the city jail here this morning was her husband, Delbert Hanson, 39, Clintonville, police detained him after answering a frantic telephone call from one of his children about 1:35 a.m. today.

Before police could respond to the call, Hanson, himself, had called the Clintonville rescue squad, which arrived with Dr. Harry Caskey and found the body of Mrs. Hanson inside the house.

An autopsy was scheduled for 11:30 a.m. today to determine the cause of death. According to Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork, an early estimate listed strangulation or blows as the cause.

Violent Argument

Hanson was questioned by Mork this morning before transfer to the county jail at Waupaca. Mork said he would obtain a warrant for Hanson's arrest but did not say what the charges would be until he could confer with Dist. Atty. Richard Johnson.

According to Mork, city police received the early-morning call from a Hanson child who stated that his parents were having a violent argument.

County traffic police Sgt. Lyle McCully was dispatched to the home, four miles northeast of here in the Town of Matson.

After discovery of the body by the rescue squad and doctor, Mrs. Hanson was pronounced dead by Dr. Joseph Weber, deputy county coroner.

Hanson is employed as an equipment operator by Mantin Brothers, Clintonville. The couple's eight children range from four months to 14 years.

La Follette to Appeal Acquittal of Hutnik

MADISON (AP) — The state's hope of nullifying the acquittal of Assemblyman Willis J. Hutnik was hanging today by a constitutional thread.

Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette, in a surprise announcement Friday, said he would challenge the Ladysmith Republican's acquittal and try to subject Hutnik to another trial.

But, La Follette made the attempt conditional on the high court's upholding the constitutionality of the Wisconsin bribery statute under which Hutnik's dramatic moves to counter the price hikes.

In his statement, Johnson said the maintenance of the space program depends on the cooperation of "major business leaders and union leaders."

Despite the President's strong words, the administration apparently does not intend any dramatic moves to counter the price hikes.

Luci, Pat Wed at Noon in Ritual at National Shrine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the Romanesque arches of a vast shrine, a full-throated choir fell silent today, an age-old question was put by a priest, and the words "I do" came from the lips of Luci Johnson and Patrick John Nugent.

Thus the daughter of the 36th President became the bride of a college boy reared in a modest, orange bungalow in Waukegan, Ill.

She was the latest in a roster of eight girls married while their fathers served as chief executive of the nation.

The scene could best be described as monumental.

The National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, world's seventh largest church, gleamed with light filtered through many-colored panes and falling on great mosaics.

Cascades of greenery and white roses marked the pews for the select congregation of 700, composed of friends great and humble of the principals.

The three clergymen of the consecrated Mass, the new-laws and indeed the tall President himself seemed tiny compared to the high altar, its four polished columns of pink stone rising to its marble canopy.

Moments of high interest succeeded.

JAPANESE CITY
Marks Anniversary
Of Atomic Blast

HIROSHIMA, Japan (A) — People are still dying from the after effects of an atomic bomb dropped on this city 21 years ago, the mayor said during solemn anniversary ceremonies today.

Sirens, church bells and temple gongs echoed through the reconstructed city at 8:15 a.m. as residents bowed their heads in one minute of silent prayer.

At that moment on Aug. 6, 1945 an American B29 Superfortress dropped a 20-kiloton atomic bomb — equal to 20,000 tons of TNT — from the summer sky.

It exploded 2,450 feet over the center of the city, killing between 80,000 and 200,000 persons. The Japanese believe the higher total. The Americans say the lower figure is more accurate.

Pigeons Released

As the sirens wailed today hundreds of pigeons were released from the city's Peace Park and some 50,000 citizens watched as Mayor Shinzo Hamai placed a new list of 550 additional bomb victims in the Fomalhaut rises at 1:33 p.m.; stone receptacle under the Aldebaran rises at 1:42 a.m.
